Explained to Bryce.

In addition it was learned that Mr. Bryce, the British embessador, had been invited to the state department a week ago and had listened to an explanation in detail of the American position by Chandler Anderson, counselor for the state department.

It is believed here that after attempting to eliminate a namber of propositions in the British mote, considered not germane to the real issue. Secretary of State Knox has devoted himself principally to the effort to show that the term "all nations" in the Hay-Paumefote treaty does not necessarily inclide the United States and that it is entirely competent for this government to treat its own shipping differently from that of other national insofar as the canal is concerned.

It also is believed that the American note takes up important chapters in the negotiations preparatory to the confirmation of the Hay-Paumesfote treaty that either were overlooked or purposely omitted from the British note.

Governor Carry resents the view that Wyoming cities are "trontier towns" and that therefore open gambling and iolations of the liquor laws are inevi table. In his message today he urged the legislature to vest in the governor authority to enforce the laws when the local officers fail to do so.

Among his recommendations were a workmen's compensation act, a tax commission of three members, the recall of elective officers, prohibition of minors working in mines, the regulation of the employment of women, and the short ballot in local elections.

Because in times past selections of public land have been unwisely made by state officials, who took lands that were supposed to be under the allowance for the government, Governor Carey advised the legislature "to memorialize congress to permit the state to conve back to the general government the lands that are worthless and which have therefore been patented to the state, and in lien thereof that the state be allowed to take other lands that are of value of at least $10 per acre. The message recommended that au thority be given the state treasurer to go into the open market and buy up the state bonds. the state bonds, as $114,000, which are for redemption and which bear 6 per cent interest. Referring to the agricultural development of the state, the message said that the year 1912 was the most prosperous in the history of Wyoming, and that the agricultural production was probably four times that of any pre-

QUESTION OF FREE MEAT DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—"Free meat," roposed by the house Democrats at the session of constress, but blocked by presidential vete, was indicated as par revision programme at the hearing today before the house committee on waxa and means. Members of the committee omphasized the majority sentiment in favor of free ments and a strong trend toward free cattle, in accord with the general policy of Democrats last year to transfer the necessities of life, including sugar and lumber, to the free list.
A protest against putting cattle and meats upon the free list was voiced by S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, Tex., as spokesman for the cattle industry west
of the Mississippi river.
Mr. Cowan said that such a plan, if adopted, would mean a flood of cheaper meats from the South American ranges and pictured a ruin of the industry in Texas.

REBEL SCOUTS NOW HOVER NEAR JUAREZ

EL PASO, Yex., Jan. 21.-Federal cor firmation was made here today of a rebel dereat Sunday at Ahumada, eighty miles below Juarez. Details of the battle were wired by way of Chihuahua City and Laredo, Tex., all communications re-maining cut below Juarez. Some six hundred rebels attacked Altu-mada, defended by 200 federal infantry, says the Mexico consul's report. Just as the fight was at its height the entire twenty-third battalion arrived from the state capital. A big ship's cannon carried on the train was turned against the rebels, routing them. On the field sixty bodies were counted including that of Antonio Rojas, a rebel general, it is declared. The federal loss was that of Anomo hose it is declared. The federal loss was slight.

Rebel scouts have been sighted a few miles below Juares and all attempts to repair the Mexican Central rallway were abandoned today. While Rojas was altacking Ahumads, it is believed that Gen. Incs Salazar with a large group of rebels was moving north on Juares, which is weakly defended. Reinforcements cannot arrive from the south except by a forced march and only federal infantry is available.

Col. David de la Fuenta chief of artillery of Oroxoo's rebel army, again is in the field, it was said here today by friends. He is under bond at San Antonio Tex., where he was held with Gen, Pascual Oroxoo on a charge of neutrality violation. It was said that de la Puenta entered Mexico a few days ago near Hachita. N. M., and hea joined the rebel forces below Juarez.
